

Colin Chapman is senior vice president of consumer devices at Flex, the global manufacturing partner of choice that helps a diverse customer base design and build products to improve the world.

In his capacity, he leads the consumer devices segment, focused on mobile phones, audio devices, laptops, wearables, and set-top boxes.

Over his 16 years at Flex, Mr. Chapman has held several management roles. Most recently he was Vice President of CEC Global Sales and Marketing at Flex, where he and his team delivered significant revenue growth and market share gains, particularly in hyperscale cloud applications. While at Flex, his experience also includes Global Account Management, Business Development, Supply Chain, and Global Operations.

Mr. Chapman received his Bachelor of Science in Supply Chain Management from Arizona State University and holds a Certificate of Specialization in Leadership and Management from Harvard Business School Online.

Colin Chapman

Senior Vice President,
Consumer Devices