

Dennis Kirkpatrick

President, Lifestyle, Consumer Devices, and Core Industrial Businesses

Dennis Kirkpatrick is the president of the Lifestyle, Consumer Devices, and Core Industrial Businesses at Flex, the advanced, end-to-end manufacturing partner of choice that helps market-leading brands design, source, build, deliver, and manage products that improve the world.

In his role, he leads teams that deliver competitive advantage to customers across the entire product lifecycle, enabling agility and reliability with sustainable practices globally. Mr. Kirkpatrick's teams support multiple markets and product categories. For industrial, this includes capital equipment, industrial devices, and industrial robotics. For consumer and lifestyle, this includes appliances, audio devices, consumer packaging, and smart home solutions, as well as laptops, wearables, and set-top boxes.

Mr. Kirkpatrick has been at Flex for 18 years and has a proven track record of delivering strong growth and margin expansion. Most recently, he served as president of the Lifestyle Business and as senior vice president and general manager of the Core Industrial Business. His extensive experience spans business development, engineering, and high-tech manufacturing. Prior to Flex, he held leadership positions at global companies such as Sanmina SCI, APW, Alfa Laval, and J&J Ethicon (Formerly D&G).

Mr. Kirkpatrick holds a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from Bucknell University and an MBA from La Salle University.
